A recent poll asked Americans which they preferred: Congress or traffic jams. Traffic jams won by more than 20 points. That means actual gridlock is more popular than congressional gridlock.

Political games have stalled legislation and left key positions charged with protecting American families vacant. Enough is enough. Senator Jeff Flake can help end the gridlock. He should start by making sure we don’t have empty seats where we need judges to hold lawbreakers accountable. He can vote to confirm Patricia Millet—a smart, qualified, experienced nominee who will fill a vacancy in one of our most important courtrooms.

Call 602-840-1891 and tell Senator Flake to support Patricia Millet.
