Dear friends,

It’s been a great year for the Coal-Free Washington campaign thanks to support from countless friends who gave their time to fight for clean air and good renewable energy solutions for Washington.

One of our big priorities in 2014 was to highlight how much coal electricity Puget Sound Energy and Avista use. With leadership by volunteer teams throughout the state, our successful springtime “Clean Energy Roadshow” did just that. Special thanks to the volunteer leaders who made these great events a success!

This summer, volunteers “Beat the Heat” at our ice cream social. We packed a Bellevue park with hundreds of people, games for kids, and live local music. In between treats and beats, we collected some of more than 10,000 postcards from people urging Puget Sound Energy to replace coal power with solar, wind and energy efficiency. Were you there, or did you miss that one?

Governor Inslee, the state Utilities and Transportation Commission, and many local leaders have asked PSE to come up with its replacement plan – so, this fall, we delivered our petitions to PSE’s doorstep in Olympia to make sure they got the message!

We had a lot of fun making big progress this year! In order to win in 2015, we need your help. People like you are crucial to powering our movement. Can we count on you to donate your time to ensure a coal-free future for Washington?

Volunteers are the key to our success. Without you, we wouldn’t have plans to close TransAlta and Portland General Electric’s coal plants, or have stopped four of six (so far!) coal export terminals from being built. Will you please pledge some time — any amount helps — to get us over the finish line next year? Just five hours a month makes a huge difference, and you’ll be joining with hundreds of other people who share your green goals and values. Return the enclosed card, and a local team leader will get in touch with you!

Happy Holidays from the Washington State Beyond Coal team!
