Bismarck and Mandan Families Deserve Clean Air
Join Us to Discuss Health in Our Community
Friends,

As a long-time Bismarck resident and asthma patient, I know the importance of clean air and clean water when it comes to one’s health.

That's why I'm worried about Montana-Dakota Utilities’ Heskett coal-fired power plant, right across the Missouri River from Bismarck and north of Mandan. Coal pollution from this plant is linked to almost 150 asthma attacks every year.

Our community deserves better. Investing in clean energy will bolster our local economy and benefit public health.

Please join our group of doctors, nurses and local clean energy advocates on Tuesday, December 4th as we discuss our community’s health and paths to improve clean air for Bismarck families.

Sincerely,

Carol Jean Larsen
